Our Historic Roses

by Judy Dean

Saturday, May 10, 2014 at 4 p.m.

- Moke Hill Library/Archives

Dean's passion is antique roses! She's been known to veer off the road at the sight of an antique rose growing in the Mother Lode. These hardy roses – living historical artifacts – are true pioneers that have survived for centuries. She has over 700 old roses growing in her fabulous gardens, and is always “potting up” new collections. “We are just the current caretakers of these roses,” Dean said. “It is important that future generations be able to see them as well.”

Join us to learn about our special heritage roses - like “Old Red Runaround”, a unique rose often found at old cabin sites around gold mines. You may find something in your own back yard!
