Historic Tramway Near June Lake
by Crystal West

Sunday, September 28, 2014 at 4 p.m.

- Mokelumne Hill Library/Archives -

Calaveras County's homegrown archaeologist, Crystal West (daughter of Penny West and Dennis Dickman), has won state and national awards with her documentation of an historic tramway near June Lake. The Agnew incline tram was built in 1915 to help construct and maintain a series of high elevation dams that still operate as the Rush Creek hydroelectric system of Southern California Edison. Crystal's short film (22 minutes) documenting the tram's history and operations will be shown and she will talk about this fascinating project. Come take a ride!
